

Enforcement Approach

Engage

Officers start with a conversation to build trust and provide guidance and engage with the public to clarify expectations and promote voluntary compliance.

Educate

Officers provide information and resources to help the public understand their responsibilities and the reasons behind regulations. Education is key to fostering long-term behavioural change.

Encourage

Officers use positive reinforcement and informal solutions to motivate compliance. Encouragement helps resolve issues collaboratively without immediate punitive action.

Enforce

When necessary, Officers take formal action through penalties or legal measures. Enforcement is used only when engagement, education and encouragement fail or the situation is serious enough to start with enforcement.
